

24 cent 1861 Adhesive Paying Treaty Services to the United Kingdom

U.S. - Great Britain Convention of 1848 - 1867

Postal arrangements between Great Britain and the U.S. had been in place for some time prior to issuance of the 24 cent 1861 adhesive. The treaty set rates, established accounting breakdowns for services, determined routes and offices for the exchange of mail. A single rate at ½ ounce cost 24 cents (1 shilling in England). The treaty gave the United States access to the extensive British foreign mail system with no extra fee charged beyond the cost of getting the mail to England.

Single 24 cent Rate to England - 1861

First Three Articles of the Treaty of 1848

ARTICLE I. There shall be charged upon all letters not exceeding half an ounce in weight, conveyed either by United States or by British packets, between a port in the United States and a port in the United Kingdom, an uniform sea rate of eight pence, or sixteen cents; and such postage shall belong to the country by which the packet conveying the letters is furnished.

ARTICLE II. There shall be charged by the Post-Office of the United Kingdom, upon all letters not exceeding half an ounce in weight, posted in the United Kingdom, and forwarded to the United States, or brought from the United States and delivered in the United Kingdom, whether such letters shall be conveyed by British or by United States packets, an inland postage rate of one penny half penny.

There shall be charged by the Post-Office of the United States, upon all letters not exceeding half an ounce in weight, posted in the United States and forwarded to the United Kingdom, or brought from the United Kingdom, and delivered in the United States, whether such letters shall be conveyed by United States or by British packets, an inland postage rate of five cents.

ARTICLE III. Upon all letters posted in one country and delivered in the other, these rates of postage, both sea and inland, shall be combined into one rate, of which payment in advance shall be optional in either country. It shall, however, not be permitted to pay less than the whole combined rate.

Even though the treaty had been effect for many years, it wasn't until 1860 that the United States issued a 24 cent stamp. The 1861 issue was made available in August of 1861 and the prior issue was demonitized, thus the bulk of treaty mail with a 24 cent adhesive will feature this series.

Prior to April 1, 1866, odd rate multiples were not allowed by treaty.

For every letter not exceeding half an ounce in weight, one single rate.
 Above half an ounce, but not exceeding one ounce, two rates.
 Above one ounce, but not exceeding two ounces, four rates.
 Above two ounces, but not exceeding three ounces, six rates.
 Above three ounces, but not exceeding four ounces, eight rates.
 And so on, two rates being added for every ounce or fraction of an ounce.

Docketing for "Steamer" service via Panama. "Too Late" for the departure of the Golden City from San Francisco on Nov 29. Letter was held until the December 10, 1867 departure of the Sacramento.

Five times rate attempted and treated unpaid - 1864

Only recorded example of a failed attempt at a 5 times rate with this adhesive.

Sender attempted to pay 5 times the 24 cent rate ($1.20) to pay for letter weighing between 2 and 2.5 ounces. Treaty rules precluded any odd rate other than a single rate until April 1, 1866. New York exchange office marked letter as "Short Paid" and marked in Scotland as 6 schillings due at delivery ($1.44).

The gold rush in the Cariboo region in the early 1860's precipitated rapid development. The Cariboo Wagon Road opened in 1862, though most foot traffic followed a separate trail. In 1865, the Yale Cariboo Road opened, which facilitated faster stage traffic.

Less than 8 recorded examples of carrier service prepaid by adhesive in combination with 24 cent.

"Local Post Office Regulations for New York City...Collections are made from each and every Lamp-post box (586 in number) six times a day..." Appletons' United States Postal Guide 1863

The one cent fee was removed in mid-1863 for the pick up or delivery of mail by carrier.

New York City employed 137 carriers in fiscal year 1863-64. Report of the PMG 1863-64, p 24

2 cent fee - West Town Private Carriage to the Mails - 1865

Only known 24 cent in combination with West Town local.

"No stage or other vehicle which regularly performs trips on a post road, or on a road parallel to it, shall convey letters..." Postal Laws of the Session of 1860-61

The nearest post office was located at Street Road station (established 1859) on the West Chester and Philadelphia railroad, thus the West Town local service was allowed to continue its operation.

During the 1861-1867 period, two shipping companies (Cunard and Galway) held contracts with the British government and are known as 'British Packets.' The remaining companies were 'American Packets.' Sixteen cents of the 24 cent rate were credited to the country with whom the shipping company held contract.

Disinfection of Mail Prior to Delivery - 1865

One slit to the right of the stamp and one just below and into the exchange marking

A cholera outbreak in Europe in late 1865 caused some postal agencies to resort to the practice of fumigation. Disinfection slowed processing of the mails, causing the first letter to be marked two days after the arrival of the incoming mail packet.

 Depreciated currency amount due versus gold standard rate.

Only known cover U.S. Notes marking and 24 cent adhesive

The value of US Notes (paper money) did not have the same value as precious metal in the years 1863 to 1868. From January 22, 1866 to March 17, 1866, persons who wanted to pay the 24 cent rate due in US notes would have to pay the normal rate times a 1.33 ratio to cover the depreciated value. This comes to 31.92 cents, which was rounded to 32 cents due.
