ADMITTANCE 25 CENTS.

This Museum is the oldest and largest establishment in the United States, and contains immense collections of the Animal and Mineral kingdoms of nature from all parts of the world. These are all beautifully arranged so as to enable the visitor to study the objects with the greatest advantage. The collection of implements and ornaments of our aboriginal tribes is very extensive and interesting, and the Cabinet of Antiquities, and Artificial Curiosities, is not less worthy of attention. In addition to the ordinary attractions of a Museum, there is in this a very large collection of the Portraits of American Statesmen and Warriors of the Revolution, and of the most distinguished scientific men of Europe and America.

The Founder C. W. Peale, desirous of securing the Museum permanently in this city, obtained an act of Incorporation, by which the stability of the Institution is insured. The act of Incorporation secures the use of the Museum in perpetuity to the city, and authorizes the Stockholders to appoint annually five trustees, who meet quarterly to regulate the business of the Institution. Nothing can be removed from the Institution under a penalty, and forfeiture of double the value of the thing removed; hence donations may be made with certainty on the part of the donors, that the articles placed in the Museum will always remain for the public good.

PHILADELPHIA BATHS.

CORNER OF SEVENTH AND GEORGE STS.
NEAR CHESNUT STREET.

The building has the advantage of being located in one of the most retired, airy, and at the same time central positions in the city. It contains two distinct range of apartments, appropriated for each of the sexes, having several and separate entrances, the best female attendance is provided for the service of the ladies.—The establishment contains upwards of fifty Baths, which includes more than twenty marble ones lately imported from Italy, made expressly for this establishment, and the residue are of plated copper, zinc, &c. Every provision exists for Shower Bathing; this salutary application can therefore be enjoyed at pleasure by means of appropriate contrivances under the complete controul of the individuals using it. A swimming room has been constructed for the accommodation of such as are fond of this recreation, and those who are ignorant of that necessary qualification can acquire it without hazard, and the temperature of the water equalled by steam.

The efforts of the proprietor have been strenuous, and the preparations very munificent in this splendid and spacious establishment, and the proprietor feels entitled to public patronage because no expense has been spared to complete every appurtenance, and combine every requisite for their perfection.

It may not be amiss to give some of the observations of the celebrated Count Rumford to prove that warm bathing is more conducive to health than any luxury that can be enjoyed in a populous city, its beneficial effects are particularly described as follows:

“It is not merely on account of the advantages,” says the Count, “which I happened to receive from warm Bathing, which renders me so much an advocate for the practice: exclusive of the wholesomeness of the warm Bath, the luxury of bathing is so great, and the tranquil state of the mind and body, which follows, is so exquisitely delightful, that I think it quite impossible to recommend it too highly, if we consider it merely as a rational and elegant refinement.” “The manner in which the warm Bath operates,” he continues, “in producing its salutary consequences, seems very evident. The genial warmth which is so applied to the skin, in the place of the cold air of the atmosphere, by which we are commonly surrounded, expands all those very small vessels, where the extremities of the arteries and veins unite, and by gently stimulating the whole frame, produces a full and free circulation, which if continued for a certain time, removes all obstructions in the vascular system, and puts all the organs in that state of regular, free and full motion, which is essential to health, and also to that delightful repose, accompanied by a consciousness of that power of exertion which constitutes the highest animal enjoyment of which we are capable.

WM. SWAIM, Proprietor.

REV. T. BARTHOLOMEW'S (M. D.)
ELIXIR OF LIFE,

For the cure of

*Agues and every kind of Fevers, Dysentery,
Dropsy, Inflammation of the Lungs,
&c. &c. &c.*

Rev. Dr. Bartholomew's Elixir of life, a recent and the most valuable discovery yet known for the following complaints—It will cure the Ague in one day, the Bloody flux, or dysentery, in a few hours. Every kind of fever it allays in the short space of 15 minutes. It cures the Scarlet fever in a few hours, and has completely eradicated the yellow fever in nineteen so that the patient could walk abroad the next day. It relieves the heart burn in five minutes: the inflammation of the Lungs in less than an hour—It has been used in the dropsy with complete success; the piles, inward and outward, it cured in a day or two. It has recently cured the liver complaint, although the patient had been grievously afflicted for 12 years. It cures nervous complaints, whether mentally or bodily. In the above cases the disease seldom returned.

Bartholomew's Elixir of Life has no mercury or barks in its composition. By taking a few spoonful of it daily, it tends to keep the system in perfect health, draws from the sickly constitution all impurities, and transforms the sallow complexion into a healthy and ruddy hue.

Certificates are given with the goods. Dr. Bartholomew's Elixir of Life will keep in any climate and any length of time.

Sold Wholesale and Retail at C. & A. OLDRIDGE'S Manufactories, No. 1, Wellington St. Strand, London, and No. 47, Prune St. Philadelphia;—likewise by most of the respectable Druggists and Perfumers throughout the Union.—Price ONE DOLLAR per Bottle.

FOR THE HAIR
OLDRIDGE'S
CHEMICAL
BALM OF COLUMBIA.

Which will prevent the HAIR FROM FALLING OFF, and restore it again in bald places, improved in its colour, strength and perfume.—The grand capillary virtues of the Balm of Columbia are as follow—One bottle price 50 cents, prevents the hair from falling off in 48 hours from its first application, or causes a new growth of whiskers in a few weeks. A bottle price 75 cents will not only stop the hair from falling off but likewise in 3 weeks causes a new growth to appear: and one at a dollar gives in general a good head of hair to a young person. It prevents the hair from turning gray, and makes it curl beautifully look bright and glossy, and in a few applications frees it from scurf, and entirely removes nervous head aches. It is, by repeated experiments, found to bear every sort of climate, without the least injury to its virtues.

Any lady or gentleman, whose hair is falling off, and doubts the above statements, may have their hair stayed gratis, by applying to Mr. Georges, No. 55½ South Front street, any morning between 8 and 10 (Sundays excepted) where references will be given.

Copies of Certificates will be shown by the venders from gentlemen, who after being bald for a number of years, have received a new growth of hair. The signer's characters are supported by his Brittanic Majesty's Consul, Philadelphia, who thereunto has prefixed his seal, and the royal arms of Great Britain; also the Mayor and other magistrates who were personally acquainted with the signers, have certified to their high respectability, and have likewise prefixed their seals.

Sold in Philadelphia, Wholesale and Retail, by C. & A. OLDRIDGE, at their Establishment, No. 47, Prune St. Philadelphia.—May also be had of most of the respectable Druggists and Perfumers in this City and the United States.

PATENT
Cool Hydrant Fountain
 AND
FAMILY SAFE.

For having at all times COOL WATER, and a kind of SPRING-HOUSE SAFE in every family, for preserving provisions and keeping it cold.

This invention combines much convenience, utility and economy, so that, with six cents worth of ice per day, cool water of any temperature, and a cool safe for provisions may be had at every man's house. They are to be had separate or combined together.

This cut represents the water fountain only, the bulk of which is an iron cylinder, to which a branch from the common hydrant pipe, from the yard or street, is attached, which constantly supplies an outer cylinder with the Schuylkill water, the inner one being filled with a small portion of ice. The cold water is drawn from the upper cock, (3) and the common hydrant water in its natural temperature from the cock below (2). Figure 1 represents the stop cock to the cool hydrant. Figure 4 is for the waste.

In public houses the Cool Hydrant will be found invaluable, affording pure, cool and clear water, and very cheap.

In families it may be so adapted as to be used for a cold safe, and preserver of provisions in warm weather.

This cut represents the Safe, with the Cool Hydrant fixed in it, its doors open, and exhibiting four apartments. Figure 2, represents the cock from which the cool water is drawn. For economy every way it is peculiarly adapted. The public are invited to call and see one of them in practical use.

N. B. Patent rights for the different States will be sold.

JANUARY.

Preservation of Health.

Catarths, rheumatism, and all inflammatory diseases, are prevalent in this month. nothing is so likely to produce them as sudden exposure to heat after a person has remained long in the cold air. Cold renders the habit of body more susceptible of impressions; the effect, therefore, of coming into a hot room from cold, is a quickened action of the blood-vessels, which frequently arises to inflammation. Running very quick, after having stood shivering in the cold for some time, is likely to produce the same bad effects.

Chilblains are prevented by whatever strengthens the general habit; and by promoting the circulation in the fingers and the feet by friction.

In the first month of the year, which, in the most natural division of the seasons, constitutes the second month of the winter quarter, heat is at its lowest in all its particulars.

Prepare hot-beds for Cucumbers; prepare your dung, and carry it to your beds, to spread on in February.

From Mrs. Hale's Magazine.
OLD AND NEW TIMES.

When my good mother was a girl—
Some thirty years ago,
Young ladies then knew how to knit,
As well as how to sew.

Young ladies then could spin and weave,
Could bake, and brew, and sweep;
Could sing and play, could dance and paint,
And could a secret keep.

Young ladies then were beautiful
As any beauties now—
Yet they could rake the new-mown hay,
Or milk the "brindled cow."

Young ladies then wore bonnets too,
And with them their own hair;
They made them from their own good straw,
And pretty, too, they were.

Young ladies then wore gowns with sleeves
Which would just hold their arms;
And did not have as many yards
As acres in their farms.

Young ladies then o't fell in love,
And married, too, the men.

While men, with willing hearts and true,
Loved them all back again.

Young ladies now can knit and sew,
Or read a pretty book—
Can sing or paint, and joke and quiz,
But cannot bear to cook.

Young ladies now can blithly spin
Of "street yarn" many a spool,
And weave a web of scandal too
And dye it in the wool.

Young ladies now can bake their hair,
Can brew their own cologne;
In borrowed plumage often shine,
While they neglect their own.

And as to secrets, who would think
Fidelity—a pearl?
None but a modest little miss,
Perchance a country girl.

Young ladies now wear lovely curls,
—What pity they should buy them;
And then their bonnets, how 'em! they fright
The beau that ventures nigh them.

Then as to gowns, I've heard it said
They'll hold a dozen men;
And if you once get in their sleeves
You'll ne'er get out again.

E'en love is changed from what it was—
Although true love is known:
'Tis wealth adds lustre to the cheek,
And melts the heart of stone.

Thus Time works wonders; young and old
Confess his magic power.
Beauty will fade; but Virtue proves
Pure gold in man's last hour.

"You are the very person I wanted," said a lady at a ball the other day to an officer; "you must dance with Miss ——. Come, I'll introduce you to her."
"Excuse me, I am no dancer." "Oh, but you can't refuse now. She is a pretty girl and has a fortune of thirty thousand dollars." "Why, really I am not a marrying man myself.—but if your ladyship please, I'll mention her to our mess."

A few days since a little boy was sent to inquire after the health of one who had been extremely ill. On his return, his mother asked him how the gentleman was. The boy replied, "very ill." "Who told you so?"—"The gentleman's sister." "Did she look affected?" They boy not understanding the question, held down his head: "Well, how did she look?" "Why, she looked kind of—tall."

It runs its course very rapidly; and often requires the most energetic practice of the most experienced physician to arrest its tendency to a fatal issue. When medical aid cannot immediately be obtained, an emetic should be given, leeches applied to the throat, and doses of calomel exhibited at intervals till the mouth be affected. But in this disease, as well as in all others, we caution parents from any attempt to cure it, without the best professional assistance. |  |

MARCH.

Preservation of Health.

The north-east winds which prevail in March dry the surface of the body, check perspiration, and cause pleurisy, croup, and other pulmonary complaints; they also chap the skin of children, and are extremely detrimental to young infants, who should not be exposed to these winds. Nothing is so injudicious as efforts to harden young children by sending them out in cold weather.

With this month commences the spring quarter; the seed-time of the husbandman, when it is so important to the interests of agriculture that the superfluous moisture should be exhaled from the earth, which would prevent the proper preparation of the soil, and destroy the germinating principle of the grain. By a wise provision of nature, therefore, the temperature of this month advances a greater number of degrees than the dew-point rises.

Slip your Artichokes, if fit, plant Kidney Beans, Cabbages, Celery, Parsley, Cucumbers, Currants, Lettuce, Radishes twice, marjoram, mint, melons, millet, Onions, and for seed, Peas twice, Potatoes, Raspberry, Rosemary, Rue, Spinach, Turnips.

Twentieth Congress,

- 1827 Andrew Stevenson, of Virginia
- From the preceding statement, it will be seen that out of one hundred and three officers, but two have died in office, and both of these Vice Presidents; and that ten states of the Union have never been represented in these offices.
- H.
- A new and valuable Styptic, which will stop bleeding even of the largest blood vessels.—Take of brandy or common Spirits 2 ounces, Castile soap 2 drachms, pearl ash 1 drachm—scrape the soap fine, and dissolve it in brandy, then add the pearl ash; mix it well together, and keep it close in a phial; when you apply it let it be warmed, and dip pledges of lint in it, and the blood will immediately congeal.
- It operates by coagulating the blood a considerable way within the vessel; a few applications may be necessary where the wound is deep, or where a limb is cut off.
- For the Rheumatism.—1 pint Spirits of Wine, 1-2 pint Hartshorn, 1-2 pint Spirits of Turpentine, 1 1-2 oz. Camphor.
- Horse Radish.—One drachm of the fresh scraped root of this plant, infused with four ounces of water, in a close vessel for two hours, and made into syrup with double its weight of vinegar, is an approved receipt for hoarseness. A tea-spoonful of this has often proved suddenly effectual.

Parsley.—If after having bruised some sprigs of parsley in your hands, you attempt to rinse glasses, they will snap or suddenly break.

Nobody's Complaint.—Aye, Nobody—and why not?—As for my single self, I see no just cause or impediment why my name and a newspaper should not be joined together, in the tenacious bands of scribbling wedlock, as any other body. There is your Busybody, and your Anybody, and your Somebody, and your Everybody—each in his turn run the race of typographical notoriety: whilst I, who boast a pedigree as great, nay, being eldest of the Body family, of greater antiquity than either, am doomed to group through the labyrinth.

St. George.—The tutelary saint of England, known at first as George of Cappadocia, was of mean birth, but raised himself from obscurity by the talents of a sycophant, and his patrons procured for him a lucrative commission to supply the army with bacon, which employment he rendered infamous by his fraud and corruption. His malversations were so notorious that he was compelled to fly from the pursuits of justice. He then embraced the profession of Arianism, collected a valuable library and was at last appointed to supersede Athanasius in the archiepiscopal chair of the church. The archbishop continued his old practice of fraud, which excited the hatred of the people. During the reign of Constantius he with difficulty retained his office, and at the accession of his successor Julian the apostate, George was sent to prison where he was massacred by the enraged pagans, and his remains thrown into the sea. When however the Arians were thus freed from his extortions, they began to revere his memory; he was canonized and worshipped, and a odious stranger assumed the mask of a martyr, a saint, and a Christian hero, and the infamous George of Cappadocia has been transformed into the renowned George of England, the patron of arms of chivalry and of the garter.—See Gibbon's History, chap. 23.

APRIL.

Preservation of Health.

It is an old custom to take physic in this month; and it is not without reason: for at this season the influence of spring is felt upon the animal frame, as it is upon the vegetable, although in a less degree; and inflammatory diseases and cutaneous eruptions show themselves, if the habit of the body be not subdued. For those who are in good health, the best spring physic is that of our grandmothers, sulphur and cream of tartar.

Slip artichokes, plant bushel and garden beans, sow cabbage the twelfth, celery, cresses, Lettuce, peas, radishes twice; Turnips; sage will grow in this or any month; sow salsify early, pepper, turf this month.

"STAND FROM UNDER!"—The following story was told for an actual fact, by a sailor who solemnly affirmed he knew it to be so; whatever else he was, he certainly must have been a genius.

We were on board a slave ship, bound to the coast of Africa. I had my misgivings about the business; and I believe others had them too. We had passed the Straits of Gibraltar, and were lying off Barbary, one clear, bright evening, when it came my turn to take the helm. The ship was becalmed, and every thing around was as silent as the day after the deluge. The wide monotony of water, varied only by the glancings of the moon on the crest of the waves, made me think the old fables of Neptune were true, and that Amphitrite and her Naiads were sporting on the surface of the ocean, with diamonds in their hair. These fancies were followed by the thoughts of my wife, my children, and my home; and all were oddly enough jumbled together in a delicious state of approaching slumber. Suddenly I heard, high above my head, a loud, deep, terrible voice call out, "Stand from Under!" I started to my feet—it was the customary signal when any thing was to be thrown from the shrouds, and mechanically I sang out the usual answer, "Let go!" But nothing came; I looked up in the shrouds—there was nothing there—I searched the deck—and found I was alone! I tried to think it was a dream—but that sound, so deep, so stern, so dreadful, rung in my ears, like the bursting of a cannon!

In the morning, I told the crew what I had heard. They laughed at me; and were all day long full of their jokes about "Dreaming Tom." One fellow among them was most unmerciful in his raillery. He was a swarthy, malignant looking Spaniard; who carried murder in his eye, and curses on his tongue; a daring, lordly man, who boasted of crime, as if it gave him pre-eminence among his fellows. "A most uncivil ghost, Tom," said he; "when such chaps come to see me, I'll make 'em show themselves. I'll not be satisfied without seeing and feeling, as well as hearing."

The sailors all joined with him; and I, ashamed of my alarm, was glad to be silent. The next night, Dick Burton took the helm. Dick had nerves like an ox and sinews like a whale; it was little he feared, on the earth, or beneath it. The clock struck one—Dick was leaning his head on the helm, as he said, thinking of me, or my story,—when that awful voice again called from the shrouds, "Stand from under!" Dick darted forward like an Indian arrow, which they say goes through and through a buffalo, and wings on its way, as if it had not left death in the rear. It was an instant, or more, before he found presence of mind to call out "Let go!" Again nothing was seen,—nothing heard. Ten nights in succession, at 1 o'clock, the same unearthly sound rung through the air, mowing our stoutest sailors quail, as if a bullet-shot had gone through and through their brains. At last the crew grew pale when it was spoken of; and the worst of us never went to sleep without saying our prayers.

For myself, I would have been chained to the oar all my life, to have got out of that vessel. But there we were in the vast solitude of ocean; and this invisible being was with us! No one put a bold face upon the matter, but Antonio, the Spaniard. He laughed at our fears, and defied Satan himself to terrify him.—However, when it came his turn at the helm, he refused to go. Several times under the pretence of illness, he was excused from a duty, which all on board dreaded. But at last, the captain ordered Antonio to receive a round dozen of lashes every night, until he should consent to perform his share of the unwelcome office. For awhile this was borne patiently; but at length he called out, "I may as well die one way as another—give me over to the ghost!"

That night Antonio kept watch on deck—few of the crew slept; for expectation and alarm had stretched our nerves upon the rack. At one o'clock the voice called, "Stand from under!" "Let go!" screamed the Spaniard. This was answered by a shriek of laughter, and such laughter, it seemed as if the fiends answered each other from pole to pole, and the boat was howled in hell! Then came a sudden crash upon the deck, as if our masts and spars had fallen. We all rushed to the spot—and there was a cold, stiff, gigan. c corpse. The Spaniard said it was thrown from the shrouds; and when he looked on it, he ground his teeth like a madman. "I stabbed him within an hour's sail of Cuba, and drank his blood for breakfast."

We all stood aghast at the mort. In fearful whispers we asked what should be done with the body. Finally, we agreed that the terrible sight must be removed from us, and hidden in the depths of the sea. Four of us attempted to raise it; but human strength was of no avail—we might as well have tugged at Atlas. There it lay, stiff, rigid, heavy, and as immovable as if it formed a part of the vessel.

Preservation of Health.

This is a fatal month for consumptive patients, who ought to be particularly guarded against exposure to evening air. In the warm days, also, which occasionally intervene during this month, young people are apt to throw off their flannels and winter clothing, and, consequently, rheumatism is very prevalent. The management of no formed disease should be undertaken by the unprofessional; but in the country, until proper advice can be procured, much relief may be obtained from taking, at bed-time, one grain of calomel, one quarter of a grain of tartar emetic, or three grains of James's powders, and one and a half grain of opium; and following this with a brisk purgative in the morning. Avoid marshy grounds, which, in this and the next month, exhale a vapour which produces ague.

The change from winter to spring produces a state in the animal frame, which greatly augments any tendency to plethora, or fulness in the blood-vessels, and, therefore, apoplexy shows itself in this month more frequently than at other periods of the year. Every thing depends on prompt professional assistance being obtained; but when this is protracted, much benefit may be derived by dividing or cutting across the arterial branches in the temples by means of a penknife, and encouraging the flow of blood. The bowels should also be freely opened by a glisten of castor oil, salts, and warm water.

The temperature of the air still outstrips the advance of the vapour, and the atmosphere attains very nearly its state of greatest dryness.

Latter end sow brocoli, celery, cucumbers for pickles, endive, featherfew, hyssop, cuttings of marsh mallow, melons, peas, sow radishes twice, kidney beans; turf this month.

The Spaniard was furious: "Let me lift him," said he: "I lifted him once and can do it again. I'll teach him what it is to come and trouble me." He took the body round the waist, and attempted to move it. Slowly and heavily the corpse raised itself up; its styleless eyes opened; its rigid arms stretched out, and clasped its victim in a close death-grapple—and rolling over the side of the ship, they tottered an instant over the waters—then with a loud plunge sunk together. Again that laugh—that wild, shrieking laugh, was heard on the winds. The sailors bowed their heads, and put up their hands to shut out the appalling sound.

I took the helm more than once after; but we never again heard in the shrouds that thundering sound,—
"Stand from under!"

Yankee Ingenuity—The laughter-loving editor of the New-England Weekly Review, says that on a late trip to Albany, he staid all night at one of the hotels near the river. He went to bed, but was soon awakened by an army of bed-bugs, who made a fierce and simultaneous attack upon him, "front, flank, and rear." Coward-like he fled to the middle of the floor, securing a blanket and pillow, and bivouacked there for the remainder of the night. Here they charged upon him again, and routed him completely. He crept out lustily for Boniface, and begged him to send a pint of molasses. This was done—when his quillship proceeded very deliberately to draw a circle upon the floor, with the molasses, about ten feet in diameter. After shaking himself thoroughly on the outside of this magic ring, he ventured within it, and slept quietly till morning! This was probably the fever at which a traveller, upon retiring to his room in the evening, discovered a bed bug in one corner of the fire-place, picking his teeth with the poker!

A good Apology.—In the court of session, in Scotland, the judges who do not attend, or give a proper excuse for their absence, are by law liable to a fine. This law, however, is never enforced; but it is common on the first day of the session, for the absentee to send an excuse to the lord president. Lord Stonefield having sent such an excuse, on the president mentioning it, the lord justice clerk Braasfield said, in his broad dialect, "What excuse can a stout fellow like him hae?" "My lord," said the president, "he has lost his wife." The justice, who was fitted with a Xantippe, replied, "Hae he? that is a good excuse indeed; I wish we had a' the same."

Repartee.—An Irish pig-dealer, who had more money in his pocket than his rugged appearance denoted, took an inside passage in one of the Liverpool stage coaches, during the late severe frost. A dandy, of the first order, was not a little annoyed by the presence of Pat; and having missed his handkerchief, tized him with having picked his pocket, threatening to take him before a magistrate at the next stage. Before they arrived there, however, the exquisite found his handkerchief deposited in his hat. He made a very awkward kind of an apology upon the occasion, but Pat stopped him short, with this remark: "Make yourself easy, my honey, there's no occasion for any bother about the matter. You took me for a thief, and I took you for a gentleman, but we were both mistaken--that's all, honey."

On the person of a man named Ridge, who was lately examined at Hatton-garden, for picking a gentleman's pocket, was found a Bible. On being asked how he came by it, he answered, that 'he was, in his leisure hours, partial to reading the Scriptures when he could meet with them; and that he stole the book on account of the morals contained in it.'—He was committed for trial.

Singular Phenomenon.—The following curious passage occurs in captain Franklin's Journey to the Polar Sea. The Quarterly Reviewer says that he collects a case stated by Humboldt, in South America perfectly well authenticated, and almost precisely similar to it.

"A young Chipewyan had separated from the rest of his band for the purpose of trapping beaver, his wife, who was his sole companion, and in her pregnancy, was seized with the pains of labour. She died on the third day after she had given birth to a child. The husband was inconsolable, and vowed in his anguish never to take another woman to wife, but his grief was soon in some degree absorbed in anxiety for the fate of his infant son. To preserve its life he decended to the office of nurse, so degrading in the eyes of the Chipewyan, as partaking of the duties of a woman. He swaddled it in soft moss, fed it with broth from the flesh of the deer, and to still its cries applied to his breast, praying earnestly to the great Manitowah to assist his endeavours. The force of the pain

JUNE.

Preservation of Health.

The directions for May are applicable to this month. Too free a use of raw vegetable matters is apt to bring on attacks of flatulent cholera; immediate relief from the pain of which may be obtained from a tea-spoonful of paragonic in a glass of brandy. But when advice can be procured it should be resorted to, as the above anodyne would be high: improper in the event of inflammation supervening. In this month the advance of the dew-point, and of the daily temperature are nearly equal. The energy of the sun's beams is at its height, and also its mean effort at mid-day.

Cabbages should be sown, sow raddishes twice, transplant cabbages, prick out cauliflowers, prick out brocoli, draw up by the roots all your weeds.

ful passion by which he was moved, actually produced the same effect in his case as it has done in no others which are recorded; a flow of milk really took place from his breast. He succeeded in rearing a child. The old man kept his vow in never taking a second wife himself, but he delighted in tending his daughter's children; and when his daughter-in-law used to interfere, saying that it was not the occupation of a man, he was wont to reply, that he had promised to be great Master of Life, if his child were spared over to be proud like other Indians. He used to mention too, as a certain proof of the approbation of providence, that although he was obliged to carry his shield on his back while hunting, yet that it never needed a moose by its cries, being always particularly loud at those times. Our informant added, that he had often seen this Indian in his old age, and that his breast, even then, retained the unusual size it had acquired in his occupation of nurse."

A farmer growing sick of his business, dose, and his wife, went into the country, and hired himself to a farmer. He was immediately set to ploughing, with a yoke of oxen and an old mare, called Jin. The farmer, being wholly unacquainted with the management of the tacks, sheets, and bowlines of his old mare and oxen, in his first attempt to put about, missed his eye, and, by turning the yoke, threw Jin and the oxen all down in a heap together. Jack, frightened by the confusion, bawled out for help. The farmer asked—"what's the matter?" "Matter! matter enough, by conscience," replied Jack: "the starboard ox has got on the starboard side—old Jin has got foul of the rigging, and they are all going to the mischief stern foremost."

Simon Eyre, originally a shoemaker in Leadenhall street, London, hearing that a vessel laden with leather from Tripoli, was wrecked on the coast of Cornwall, conceived he might make great advantage by purchasing it. He accordingly collected as much money as his confined means would permit, and departed from London on foot to Penzance; where he bought the leather, returned to London, commenced dealer in that article, and soon amassed a fortune sufficient to erect Leadenhall, obtain knighthood, fill the office of lord mayor, and found a splendid ecclesiastical brotherhood.

Selling one's Body—The following curious letter was found among the papers of Mr. Goldwyr, a surgeon, of Salisbury:

"To Mr. Edward Goldwyr, at his house in the Close, at Salisbury.—Sir, being informed that you are the only surgeon in this city (or county) that anatomizes men, and I being under the unhappy circumstance, and in a very mean condition, would gladly live as long as I can; but, by all appearance, I am to be executed next March, having no friends on earth that will speak a word to save my life, nor send me a morsel of bread to keep life and soul together until

Anecdote of Dr. Mitchell.—It is said, the celebrated Dr. Samuel L. Mitchell, travelling in the stage, and happening to be the only passenger, was very sociable with the driver, asking him many questions, some of which the driver considered rather philosophical, and not a little puzzling. The knight of the whip, in turn, put the following question to the learned doctor:—"Why, sir, do white sheep eat more than black sheep?" "Indeed," said the doctor, "I was not aware that they did." The doctor was proceeding in a very philosophical manner to account for the difference, by supposing the white sheep had less oil in their fleeces than the black sheep. "You are right, sir," said Jehu. "Pray, my friend," said doctor, after a few moments reflection, "can you tell?" "I can, sir; there are more of them."

Gone to Pot.—The captain of a vessel lying in river, wishing to give his crew a treat on a joyful day, left two sons of Hibernia to take care of the ship, and told them they might have double allowance of grog, but cautioned them against firing a shot except there was reason to apprehend some danger. This they promised; but after enjoying a hearty dinner, together with the perfumes of the quor, one of them proposed to have a shot to themselves, which the other objected to, as it would make a great noise; but the most fertile in invention he could prevent that, and immediately placed

Preservation of Health.

In those who are corpulent, the perspiration induced in hot weather is apt to cause a miliar eruption on the skin, similar to the prickly heat of hot climates. It is easily moderated by wearing calico next the skin to absorb the acrid perspiration; and by employing a cool regimen and free ventilation, to render the exudation of the skin milder. It is a mistaken notion to suppose that wine and spirits are useful in this state of habit; even a small proportion of these stimulants often produces a deleterious effect. One of the best preventatives is a frequent change of linen. Take off flannel which has been worn next the skin, in this month; and use, once or twice, the tepid bath.

In hot weather, those predisposed to spittings of blood, are in great danger of an attack of that disease. When medical advice is not at hand, it is of importance to know, that the bleeding may be moderated by placing the patient in a sitting position, giving him small doses of rice or iced water, and keeping the trunk of the body as cool as possible, while, at the same time, the extremities are kept warm.

Transplant brocoli, sow cabbages, coleworts, transplant cauliflowers to stand, endive, gather millet seed, take up onions, sow radishes twice, sow turnips, plant kidney beans to preserve.

A pot used for cooking, on the mouth of the gun, setting himself across it held the pot by the ears prevent its flying off! He then requested his messengers to shoot easy—but the alarm was heard by the main and crew, who hastened on board and inquired the reason of the alarm. 'Murphy and me,' answered Pat, 'had a mind to have a bit of a shoot ourselves.' 'Where is Murphy,' said the captain. 'There is Murphy,' replied the Irishman, smiling and scratching his head, 'did'nt you meet him now! He's just gone ashore in the iron pot.'

A new method of Making $5 Notes.—A countryman having applied at a store for a few necessaries, could not pay for them, as all the moneys he possessed were under $5, and the storekeeper would not take them, as it was contrary to law. Being placed in this singular situation, he retired, and afterwards returned with five one dollar notes, neatly sewed together, which he presented as a $5 note. It being a novelty to see a note of this description, and the storekeeper's conscience being satisfied, he gave the articles to the purchaser, who went home with a sensation of pleasure, in thinking how he so easily evaded a law of the land.

Regular attachment of a Dog.—Six or eight weeks ago, an old man, a labourer, died in the house of a farmer, about ten miles from this borough, and was buried in the Roman Catholic grave yard, near the turnpike, about six miles from town. When the coffin containing the body was carried out of the house, a large dog which had manifested some signs of attachment to the deceased, and had some months belonged to this farmer, was observed to smell at it. Sometimes in the course of the next day the dog was observed at or near the grave, where he continued pretty constantly for several days and nights, frequently scratching on and about the grave, and howling. The family at the nearest dwelling did not give him any thing to eat for four or five days, supposing by that means that the dog would be induced to leave the place; but seeing no disposition in him to do so, and being informed to whom the dog belonged, they afterwards frequently fed him. He continued his attendance at the grave several weeks, but not so closely as at first. Frequently rambling over the fields in the day time, but generally returning at night and lying beside the grave. A man of the family, to which the dog had belonged, called at the graveyard about three weeks since, to know whether the reports of the dog being there were correct. At his approach the dog showed evident signs of dislike to him, by growling, &c. and would not permit him to enter the yard, until accompanied by a boy who lived near, and with whom the dog had become acquainted. On the 4th inst. the dog was enticed away by a man who had been in the farmer's family during the winter, and followed him to the house of his master, where he was secured a day and a night; but a circumstance occurred which reder'd it necessary to loose him in the night, where-upon he came to the yard gate, near the farmer's dwelling, appeared to get on a scent, and immediately disappeared. The writer called on the 10th inst. at the nearest dwelling to the graveyard above mentioned, and was informed that the dog had returned there on the night he had been loosed. Any persons who may feel inclined to doubt this statement, and feel curious to ascertain the facts, may satisfy themselves by an inquiry of the family residing near the grave.

Highland Mary.—In the west church yard of Greenock, without a stone to mark the place, slumber the ashes of Burns' Highland Mary. On a late visit to that town, curiosity, and a hope of eliciting some particulars respecting the object of the poet's love, induced us to pay a visit to the mother of Mary Campbell, now residing there. We found her a tidy, hale old woman, of four-score, seated beside her 'wingle,' and busily employed at her spinning wheel, the product of which, and a little assistance from parish, she manages to eke out a sort of livelihood. Her daughter Mary soon became the subject of conversation, and we found her extremely communicative. She stated that when her daughter came to Ayrshire, she spoke often of the correspondence had maintained with Burns, and said that he had repeatedly offered her his hand, and told he would go to any part of the Highlands and marry her. She likewise mentioned that it was then his intention to go to the West Indies; but he said in the event of his taking place, he would settle a yearly sum upon Highland Mary until his return. Burns's gallantry at this time formed a theme for gossip, and Mary most dreaded a union with one whom her friends deemed as a rake. Had she survived, these objections would have been surmounted; but alas! their

AUGUST.

Preservation of Health.

One of the best modes of preserving health, and invigorating the constitution against the evils of the approaching winter, is the daily use of the cold bath. In many habits, however, the plunging bath is hurtful, by the absence of that reaction which causes the glow on the skin of those who are benefited by bathing. In these cases, the shower bath is often useful, but, when no reaction even follows its use, the individual should sponge the trunk of the body with cold salt water, or vinegar and water, before rising in the morning, whilst the limbs are kept warm in bed.

The particulars of this month do not vary much from the preceding; the warm nights continue and the heat of the day is undiminished. Evaporation is the same as in the last month.

In warm weather, meat should be carefully examined; powdered charcoal will preserve it from taint; pyroligneous acid will effect this better. Meat and vegetables that are frozen should be soaked in cold water several hours before dressing.

Sow cabbages, latter end carrots, get your cucumber seed, sow cresses, prick out endive, early sow lettuce, mullein, gather onion seed, plant garlick, get parsnep seed, twelfth, sow peas for the fall, sow radishes; middle, sow spinach, though some may not until the twentieth sow turnips.

Burns was spoken ere they were long separated; his restless arms of death numbered Mary among his victims, and she was mingled with the cries of the wailing, while the bard, unconscious of his loss, was dwelling in visionary prospects of domestic bliss. Impatient at the delay and silence of his betrothed, Burns wrote repeatedly to the Highlands, but could obtain no information to quiet his soul. At length he addressed a letter of inquiry to her uncle at Greenock, and by him the melancholy truth was unfolded. To one whose bosom was so tenderly alive to all the finer feelings and passions, this proved an overwhelming blow—his mental anguish was affected in the extreme, and his sorrows were vented in the well known impassioned address "To Mary in Heaven." After Mary's death, several letters from Burns, breathing all the ardour and enthusiasm which characterised his effusions, were discovered in her chest. These, with a letter addressed to Mrs. Campbell, by her intended father-in-law, were committed to the flames by the hand of one of Mary's brothers. The last parting scene between the youthful lovers, as described by the poet, is extremely impressive. After spending 'a day of parting love on the bonny banks of Ayr,' they stood on opposite sides of a limpid rivulet, and, across the stream, exchanged kisses, and vows of eternal fidelity. The bible which Burns that day placed in the hands of his soul's idol, is now in the possession of her sister Anderson. It is a pocket bible in two volumes.

Upon the boards of the first volume is inscribed, in the hand writing of Burns, 'And ye shall not swear by my name falsely; I am the Lord.' Levit. xix. 12. On the second volume, 'Thou shalt not forswear thyself, but shall perform unto the Lord thine oath.' Matt. v. 33; and upon a blank leaf of each, 'Robert Burns, Mossgiel.'

THE FRAIL ONE.

The night-breeze gently sweeps the ground,
O'er moon-bright lawn and whispering tree
It spreads refreshment all around,
But brings no sleep, no rest to me!

My wailing babe! your eyes is dim,
Your limbs are cold, your cries are few;
Your feeble accents call on him
Who thinks not, cares not, now, for you.

Your parch'd and pallid lip demands
Some food to ease that gnawing pain,—
Oh raise raise not thus your wasted hands,
The breast is dry—you weep in vain!

He sees me not; he thinks not now
Of all the thousand oaths he swore—
The plighted truth, the broken vow;
The fatal flight I now deplore.

Fair was his form—a heavenly ray
Seemed o'er its bright refulgence shed;
And saint-like radiance seemed to play
Its halo round its holy head.

Kind were his words, and bright his smile,
But like the meteor light it played,
As cold—as brilliant to beguile
And lure to wo an artless maid.

He ne'er returned—the tear drop fell
O'er my pale cheek in silent shame;
—I wrote, my wretchedness to tell—
Unopen'd back my letter came.

O! could he see his victim now—
Her beauty and her bloom are fled,
And beams upon her pallid brow.
The fatal spot of hectic red.

I hail the shortening of my breath,
The fire that burns within my breast;
Welcome the harbinger of death,
And lay my weary heart to rest.

John Wilkes.—The late John Wilkes was really wag, and so intolerably sarcastic, that it is a wonder how he could keep so long on good terms with his friends. In this respect he was very justly compared with Dr. Johnson; though the latter was called the Colossus of literature, and the former a fine gentleman when in gentlemen's company; for it was chiefly the citizens' expense that he indulged in the satire his wit. When confined in the King's Bench, he was waited upon by a deputation from some ward in city, when the office of alderman was vacant.
There had already been great fermentation on his account, and much more apprehended, they who were deputed, undertook to remonstrate with Wilkes on

SEPTEMBER.

Preservation of Health.

The change of the season, and the free use of plums and other stone-fruit in this month, render the cholera and diarrhoeas frequent. When these complaints occur, the best medical advice should be speedily procured; but it may be useful to know that much of the mischief is caused by the skins of the fruit alluded to, which, being insoluble in the stomach, and astringent, become acrid and stimulant, producing spasm and the colic pains which accompany these diarrhoeas. No stone-fruit, which is not fully ripened, and the flesh of which is not a soft, juicy pulp, is wholesome.

In the first month of autumn the reduction of temperature begins to be felt; but still less in the day than during the night; the mean temperature declines.

Sow cabbages tenth, sow cauliflowers, plant cuttings of currants, clary, comfrey, plant cuttings of gooseberries, sow radishes, plant layers of suckers of raspberries, rosemary, plant out strawberries, string your strawberries, and dress your beds, plant tansy.

anger to the public peace which would result from offering himself as a candidate on the present occasion, and expressed the hope that he would at least wait till some more suitable opportunity presented itself. But they mistook their man: this was with him an additional motive for persevering in his first intention. After much useless conversation, one of the parties at length exclaimed, "Well, Mr. Wilkes, if we are thus determined, we must take the sense of the matter." "With all my heart," replied Mr. Wilkes, "I will take the nonsense, and beat you ten to one." Upon another occasion, Wilkes attended a city dinner, not long after his promotion to city honours.—Among the guests was a noisy vulgar deputy, a great fatton, who, on his entering the dining room, always with great deliberation took off his wig, suspended it by a pin, and with due solemnity put on a white cotton night cap. Wilkes, who certainly had pretensions to be considered a high bred man, and never accustomed to similar exhibitions, could not take his eyes from so strange and novel a picture. At length the deputy, with unblushing familiarity, walked up to Wilkes, and asked him whether he did not think that a night cap became him? "Oh yes, sir," replied Wilkes, "but it would look much better if it were pulled quite over your face."

action by the least approach of misery and distress. During her short stay at Chester, where she had been performing, her washer woman, with three small children, was by a merciless creditor, thrown into prison. A small debt of forty shillings had been worked up in a short time, by law expenses, into a bill of eight pounds. As soon as Mrs. Jordan heard of the circumstance, she sent for the attorney and paid him his demand.

On the afternoon of the same day, the poor woman was liberated. As Mrs. Jordan, with her servant, was taking her usual walk on the Chester walls, the widow with her children followed her; and just as she had taken shelter from a shower of rain, in a kind of porch, dropped on her knees, and, with much grateful emotion, exclaimed—"God for ever bless you, madam! you have saved me and my family from ruin." The children beholding their mother's tears, added, by their cries, to the affecting scene; which a sensitive mind could not behold without strong feelings of sympathy. The natural liveliness of Mrs. Jordan's disposition was not easily damped by sorrowful scenes; however, though she strove to hide it, the tears of feeling stole down her cheeks, and stooping down to kiss the children, she slipped a pound note into the mother's hand, and in her usual playful manner replied, "There, there, now it is all over; go good woman. God bless you; don't say another word." The grateful creature would have replied, but that good female Samaritan insisted on her silence and departure.

Dramatic Anecdote.—The late Mrs. Jordan possessed a heart susceptible of the most tender and humane emotions, and these were called into instant

It so happened that another person had taken shelter under the porch, and witnessed the whole of this interesting scene, who, as soon as Mrs. Jordan observed him, came forward, and holding out his hand, he exclaimed with a deep sigh, "Lady, pardon the freedom of a stranger, but would to the Lord the world were all like you." The figure of this man bespoke his calling; his countenance was pale, and a suit of sable, rather the worse for wear, covered his tall and spare person. The penetrating eye of Thalia's favourite soon developed his character and profession, and with her wonted good humour, retreating a few paces, she replied, "No, I won't shake hands with you." "Why?" "Because you are a methodist preacher, and when you know who I am you'll send me to the devil!" "The Lord forbid! I am, as you say, a preacher of the gospel, which tells us to clothe the naked, feed the hungry, and relieve the distressed; and do you think I can behold a sister cheerfully obeying the commands of my great Master, without feeling that spiritual attachment which leads me to break through worldly customs and offer you the hand of friendship and brotherly love!" "Well, well, you are a good old soul, I dare say, but—I don't like fanatics; and you'll not like me, when I tell you I am a player; you must have heard of me; Mrs. Jordan is my name." After a short pause, he again extended his hand, and with a complaisant countenance, he replied, "The Lord bless thee, whoever thou art; thy goodness is unlimited; he has bestowed on thee a large portion of his spirit; and as to thy calling, if thy soul upbraid thee not, the Lord forbid that I should." Thus reconciled, and the rain having abated, they left the porch together; the offer of his arm was accepted, and the female Roscius of comedy, and the melancholy disciple of John Wesley, proceeded arm in arm to the door of Mrs. Jordan's dwelling. As parting the preacher shook hands with her, saying

OCTOBER.

Preservation of Health.

Those who are liable to attacks of leprosy, moist tetter, and several other skin diseases, generally experience a return of them in this month. They are best guarded against by the use of the tepid bath, friction on the skin, and the regulation of the bowels.

The mean temperature of this month falls, and the dew-point declines almost in the same proportion. Evaporation decreases.

Many stars, which appear single, are found to consist of two, three, or four stars; and these stars are frequently of different colours: sometimes a white is combined with a blue or purple star, and yellow, orange, or red large stars, are found with blue or purple small ones; sometimes the small star has a very rapid motion around the large one; the star Xi of the Great Bear is an example of this, the little star moving above six degrees every year.

Latter end cut down your asparagus, and cover your beds with dung, plant beans for spring, sow cabbages twentieth; transplant cauliflowers, plant horse radish, pick lettuce into boxes, sow peas for the hot-bed, radishes, turf this month.

Milledgeville, capital, 158 miles west north west of Savannah.

"Fare thee well, sister; I know not what the principles of thy calling may be, thou art the first I ever conversed with; but if their benevolence equals thine, I hope and trust, at the great day, the Lord will say to each—'Thy sins are forgiven thee.'"

Baron Knigge says, that "A man who can laugh from the bottom of his heart, and abandon himself to the ebullitions of jollity, cannot be thoroughly bad.—Malice and cunning render one serious, pensive, and close; but a man who can laugh heartily, is not dangerous. From this, however, we must not infer, that every person who is not of a cheerful temper, is bent on mischief."

I.

There's something very curious in the manner
In which you can twist words into rhymes,
Single and double;
To see how one thing with another chimes,
That is, if you have not wit enough to plan a
Story, or something else to write about,
Without
Much trouble.

II.

Suppose we try it now. One ASA STOKES,
One of those men whom every thing provokes,
A surly tempered, evil minded, bearish,
Ill natured kind of being;

He was the Deacon of the parish,
And had the overseeing
Of small matters, such as the ringing
Of the church bell, and 'took the lead in singing.'

III.

Well, Deacon Stokes had gone to bed, one night,
About eleven;
'Twas in December, if my memory's right,
In—'87.
'Twas cold enough to make a Russian shiver.
I think I never Knew one
Colder than this: in faith, it was a blue one!
As by the Almanac foretold 'twas,
A real Lapland night. Good Lord how cold 'twas.

IV.

There was a chap about there, named EZEKIEL,
A clever good-for-nothing fellow,
Who, very often, used to get quite mellow;
Of whom, the Deacon always used to speak ill.
For he was fond of cracking jokes
On Deacon Stokes:
To shew on
What terms he stood, among the women folks,
And so on.

V.

It came to pass that, on the night I spake of,
Ezekiel left the tavern bar-room, where

He'd spend the evening, for the sake of Drowning his care,
 By partaking
 Of the merry-making
 And enjoyment
 Of some good fellows there, whose sole employment
 Was, in all kinds of weather,
 On every night,
 'By early candle light,'
 To get together,
 Reading the papers, smoking pipes, and chivving;
 Telling 'LONG YANNS,' and pouring down 'THE RUIN.'

'Pretty well corned,' and 'up to any thing';
 Drunk as a lord, and happy as a king,
 'Bless as a razor,' from his midnight revel,
 Not fearing muskets, women, or the devil,
 With a light heart,
 Much lighter than a feather;
 With a light soul

That spurned the freezing weather;
 And with a head
 Ten times as light as ether;
 And a purse, perhaps as light as all together;
 On went Ezekiel, with a great expansion
 Of thought,
 Until he brought
 Up, at a post before the Deacon's mansion.

VII.

With one arm round the post, awhile he stood,
 In thoughtful mood;
 With one eye turned
 Up towards the window, where,
 With feeble glare,
 A candle burned;
 Then, with a serious
 Face, and a grave mysterious
 Shake of the head,
 Ezekiel said;

NOVEMBER.

Preservation of Health.

This is the period of the year in which coughs, consumptions, rheumatisms, and a numerous train of complaints fix themselves in the habit. Much of the evil proceeds from exposure to sudden alternations of heat and cold, which should, therefore, be carefully avoided. The body must be now encased in flannel; and those susceptible to diseases of the lungs should always put a portion of gum, or some simple lozenge, into the mouth, when they expose themselves to the night air, and in foggy weather. Ulcers which have long been open, must not be healed up in this month, unless their place be supplied by an artificial issue, or a seton.

In this month the atmosphere is nearly saturated with moisture.

Take up your cabbages, sow cabbages, take up your cauliflowers, such as are flowered, and house them, take up your carrots, trench all your vacant land, prune your trees and vines, plant out every thing of the tree or shrub kind, that has a root to it: plant box; turf early.

PRINCIPAL TOWNS.

Sunbury, post town and port of entry, at the head of St. Catherine's sound, 40 miles south of Savannah.

Brunswick, post town and sea port, on Turtle river, 10 miles south of Darien, 80 south of Savannah.

St. Mary's, post town and port of entry, on the north side of St. Mary's river, 9 miles above its mouth, 150 south of Savannah.

Petersburg, post town, 50 miles above Savannah.

Washington, post town, 50 miles west north west of Augusta.

Upon the beacon
That from the window shone;—

"I'll start the Deacon."

VIII.

Rap, rap, rap, rap, went Deacon Stokes's knocker.

But no one stirred. Rap, rap, it went again.

'By George!—it must be after ten o'clock, or

They take an early hour for turning in.'

IX.

Rap, rap, rap, rap,—'My conscience! how they keep

A fellow waiting! Lord, how sound they sleep!'

X.

The Deacon then began to be alarmed;

And, in amazement,

Threw up the casement,

And, with cap on head,

Of fiery red,

Demanded what the cause was of the riot

That thus disturbed his quiet.

XI.

'Quite cool this evening, Deacon Stokes,' replied

The voice below. 'Well, well, sir, what's the matter?'

'Quite chilly, Deacon; how your teeth do chatter!'

'You vagabond, a pretty time you've chosen

To shew your wit, for I am almost frozen;

Be off; or I'll come down and put the lash on.'

'Why, bless you, Deacon; don't be in a passion.'

'Twas all in vain

To speak agin;

For, with the Deacon's threat about the lash,
Down went the sash.

XII.

Rap, rap, rap, rap, the knocker went again:

And neither of 'em was a very light rap.

Thump, thump, against the door went 'Zekiel's case,

And that, once more, brought Deacon Stokes' nightcap.

XIII.

'Very cold weather, Deacon Stokes, to-night.'

'Begone, you vile,

Insolent dog; or I'll

Give you a warning; and should serve you right:

You villain, it is time to end your hoax.'

'Why bless your soul and body, Deacon Stokes,

Don't be so cross;

When I've come here

In this severe

Night, which is cold enough to kill a horse,

For your advice

Upon a very difficult and nice

Question:—Now, Lord bless you,

Deacon, do make haste and dress you.'

XIV.

'Well, well, out with it—if it must be so.

Be quick about it.

I'm very cold.'

'Well, Deacon, I don't doubt it.

In a few words the matter can be told.

Season, the cause is this:—I want to know, if this cold weather holds all summer here, what time GREEN TEAS will be along next year?

Prison Breaking—One of the most astounding feats of prison-breaking upon record was that of Jack Shepherd, the celebrated burglar, who twice escaped from Newgate. The second time was the extraordinary thing, as on account of the former one, he was heavily dressed and vigilantly watched. In the night, after his keepers had examined his irons and locked him in his cell, he got off his handcuffs, and with a crooked nail opened the great padlock which fastened him to the door. His feet locks he could not get rid of, but tied them up with his garters. He then went up the chimney, after removing an iron bar in it, an inch square, into a room over his own; and thence by the help of the bar and a great nail, he broke through several strong doors, all bolted and barred, passing through the chapel and arriving at the leads at the goal. Then in order to descend, he went back and fetched his blanket, and also wrenched an iron spike from the chapel door, with which he made fast the blanket to the wall, and let himself down upon a turner's beam adjoining. The garret door on the leads was open through which he entered; and after remaining till the people were gone to bed, he descended the stairs and went out at the street door. A preacher of the day, when the story was ripe, made the following plain application of Jack's adroitness:—"Let me exhort you, then, to open the locks of your hearts with the nail of repentance; burst asunder the fetters of your beloved lust; mount the chimney of hope; take from thence the bar of good resolution; break through the stone wall of despair, and all the strong holds in the dark entry of the valley of the shadow of death, raise yourselves to the leads of divine meditation; fix the blanket of faith with the spike of the church. Let yourselves

DECEMBER.

Preservation of Health.

The convivial meetings, and the heated rooms consequent upon them, are the source of many diseases in this month. Warm clothing, temperance, and regular hours, are, therefore, essential.

The month of December closes the year with nearly the same character as those of the preceding month.

Coals are an article of great expense; coke may be advantageously used with them, or balls compounded of clay, small coal, and charcoal. Coals should be kept moderately wetted, and cinders carefully sifted.

Cover your endive with brush, cover celery, and every thing else that needs shelter, if the weather will admit, turn over the ground that is trenched, in order to mellow and pulverize it. Whatever will prevent delay, and enable you to begin spading in February, should be done this month.

PRINCIPAL TOWNS.

Athens, post town, on the main road from Augusta to Nashville, Tennessee, 94 miles from the former.

ALABAMA.

Mobile, post town and port of entry, on the north channel of Mobile river, near its entrance into Mobile bay, 50 miles west north west of Pensacola.

Blakely, 15 miles east north east of Mobile.

St. Stephens, post town, on the west side of the Tombigbee, 800 miles by land above Mobile, 250 south by west of Huntsville.

Cahawba, post town, seat of government, on a high bluff at the junction of the Cahawba with the Alabama, 77 miles north east of St. Stephens.

to the turner's house of resignation, and descend stairs of humility; so shall you come to the door of deliverance from the prison of iniquity, and escape clutches of that old executioner the devil, who about like a roaring lion, seeking whom he devour."

The Spaniel and the Miller's Daughter.—The only daughter of a wealthy miller, of Spoletto, while playing with a large spaniel, fell into the Tiber, without accident being perceived. The dog jumped immediately into the water—reached the little girl, and holding her strongly by her garments, strove to bring her to shore; but her dress was too weak, and yielding to the water, the courageous dog was obliged to lose his prize.

Unable to succeed in an effort beyond his power, the solitary creature ran immediately to his master. The unfortunate man! he was yet ignorant of his calamity. The dog informs him of it by the most intelligent manner. Guided by a species of reason, he bore in his hand the bonnet of his little mistress, and laid it at the feet of his master. The most piteous cries at the feet of his master. The wretched father, overwhelmed with awful premonitions, exclaimed at the distressing sight—Alas! my daughter. Not, however, losing his presence of mind, at the calamity which his mute interpreter had frequently revealed, he rushed to the bank of the river and threw himself precipitately into the stream.

The faithful dog accompanies, and guides him the distance of several hundred yards. Prodigious power of instinct! Singular and happy preservation. The miller, once more a father, has again in his arms his beloved child, already carried far by the progress of the waves. She is rescued from death almost at the moment of expiring. Having reached the mill, with the father carrying his child in his arms, the spaniel exhibited an equal anxiety with his master for the fate of the girl; and when he saw her restored to life, he fawned upon her with caresses and joy. From that time he followed her always, and regarded her with a look of content, which indicated, that this sensible animal rejoiced in the benefits he had afforded.

Easy Mode of taking Impressions from Coins, &c.—A very easy and elegant way of taking impressions of medals and coins, not generally known, is thus described by Dr. Shaw:—Melt a little isinglass glue with brandy, and pour it thinly over the medal, so as to cover its whole surface; let it remain on for a day or two, till it is thoroughly dried and hardened, and then taking it off, it will be fine, clear, and as hard as a piece of Muscovy glass, and will have a very elegant impression of the coin. It will also resist the effects of damp air, which occasions all other kinds of glue to soften and bend, if prepared in this way.

OBSERVATIONS ON THE WEATHER.

There is, perhaps, no subject of more universal interest in the whole range of natural knowledge than that of the unceasing fluctuations which take place in the atmosphere in which we are immersed. Of interest, the health, the enjoyment, or the convenience of every one is, more or less, constantly affected by the weather, and the general anxiety hence arising gives rise to perpetual endeavours to prognosticate its changes. In this, as in more important matters, the curiosity and credulity of the ignorant have been made the sport of the artful and designing; and prophecies upon this subject, if less injurious than upon others, have certainly not been less absurd.

But although we neither pretend to prophesy ourselves, nor to teach the art of prophesying to others, we are of opinion that useful anticipations may be formed upon the safe principle, that like causes always produce like effects. It is thus that we anticipate cold in winter and heat in summer: and, for reasons not quite so obvious, but which will be hereafter explained, we expect the driest winds in March, and a period of heavy rain in July. We abjure the legend of St. Swithin, but do not doubt the experience upon which it was engrafted. We have great respect, also, for the judgment of the gardener and the mariner upon atmospheric changes; for they form their opinions upon constant observations of phenomena which escape the attention of those who are less exposed to their influence. Observations such as these science will aid and extend, and change; and, we doubt not, that if the same pains were taken to spread the knowledge of useful inventions in this department of science, as have hitherto been devoted to perpetuate error, the spirit of inquiry, assisted by such artificial means, would largely extend our knowledge of Meteorology* and its useful applications. Of the advantages of such a union, we have a remarkable instance in our own days, in the adoption of the Marine Barometer. Even common sailors are now acquainted with the use of this instrument, and to its timely warnings many a valuable ship is acknowledged to owe its preservation.

Such useful knowledge in this department of nature, it will be our aim to substitute for the absurdities which the popular almanacs have hitherto been disfigured. The unfolding of our plan we must leave to time: for few people can be aware of the extent of the information which may be extracted from the works of different individuals who have made this subject their study: information, however, which has never been collected into a popular form; but which it shall be our endeavour to divest of such unnecessary obscurity as the less learned are subject to find in the observations of scientific men.

The first step which we shall take for this purpose is to explain, as concisely as possible, the meaning of the terms in which the observations in the following pages are recorded, referring for a more full account of the practical use which may be made of them, to our subsequent ALMANACS and the Treatises on meteorology.

The Barometer, by which the first is measured, is an instrument now too well known to require description in the limited space to which this explanation must necessarily be confined. We shall, however, have something to say, hereafter, upon this instrument, and of some misconceptions of its use. The observations are recorded in inches and thousandth parts of an inch of mercury. The Thermometer, by which the variations of heat are ascertained, is also generally known. The temperature registered is that of the air in the shade; but, besides this, the power of the sun's rays is recorded, and the force of terrestrial radiation; which we cannot here further explain than by describing it as the cold produced at night upon a plot of short grass exposed to the full aspect of the sky; and which, in clear and calm weather is always considerably below the temperature of sheltered situations. The Hygrometer, by which the state of the atmosphere is ascertained with regard to moisture, is not as generally known as the two preceding instruments, and will, hereafter, require full description: it must be sufficient, at present, to remark, that it is a contrivance by which the degree of temperature is readily noted at which moisture begins to be deposited upon a cold body, as we see in summer in the familiar instances of a bottle of wine brought from a cellar, or decanter of water fresh filled from a well. This degree is called the dew-point; and from it the degree of dryness may be accurately calculated, and the force or elasticity of the atmosphere of steam, which is always mingled with the air.

To find the time of Sun rising or setting for any place in the United States from the annexed Table: Take the latitude of the place on the top, and the sun's declination on the side, under the former and opposite the latter, will give the time of sun setting or rising.

Observe that this Table is calculated for the declination of the sun when North, and that when the declination is South, the time of sun rising exhibited in the Table will be time of sun setting;—also, the time of sun setting will be time of sun rising.

EXAMPLE I.

Required the time of sun rising and setting at Philadelphia, on 20th May.

In the Almanac for the month of May, opposite 20, the day of the month, and in the column under sun dec. the sun's declination, is 20 1 N. In the annexed Table opposite 20 thus found, and under 40, the latitude of Philadelphia, the numbers 7 11 5 are given: that is 7h. 11m. for sun setting, as marked on the top, and 11 minutes before 5 for sun rising.

EXAMPLE II.

Required the time of sun rising and setting at Philadelphia on the 25th of February.

In the Almanac for the month of February, opposite 25th, the day of the month, and in the column under (sun dec.) the declination of the sun, is 9 S. In the annexed Table, opposite 9 thus found, and under 40, the numbers 6 30 6 are given, and agreeable to the directions on the top of the Table, when the declination is North, 6h. 31m. shows the sun setting, and 31 minutes before six for sun rising;—but in this instance, as the sun's declination is south, the sun rising must be taken for the sun setting, and the sun setting for the sun rising, as shown in the observation above;—therefore, on the 25th February, at Philadelphia, the sun sets at 31 minutes before 6, and rises 6h. 31m

The above Table shows the number of days from the first of January to any given day in the year. Thus, to find the number of days from January 1st to August 17th, under the given month August, and in the same horizontal line with the day of the month, the required number, 228 will be found. The number of days between any two given dates may be found thus: from the number of the table corresponding to the latter date, subtract that corresponding to the former date. For example, what number of days is there from March 9th to June 20th. The number for June 20th is 170, that for March 9th is 67, the difference, 103, is the number of days required. If a note at 60 days be given on the 9th of May, when will it be due? To the number corresponding to May 9, viz. 128, add 60, which makes 188—find this number in the table, and corresponding with this will be the month and day on which the note becomes due, viz. July 8. But if the sum should be more than 365, subtract 365 from it, and find the remainder in the table, the month and day answering will be for the following year. Thus, if the note had been dated November 19th, add 60 to 322, the sum is 382, and from this take 365, the remainder 17 corresponds to January 18, the time required.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Washington, August 13, 1839.

The subjoined regulations, approved by the President of the United States, has been received from the War Department, and is published for the information and government of all concerned.

Regulations concerning Rank and Command.

1 Brevet rank will give no command, except on detachments composed of different corps, and within the meaning of the 61st article of war.

2 Detachment means a body of troops sent out from the main body, to perform a particular service, and to be absent for a limited time; when such a detachment is composed of different corps Brevet rank will take effect in conformity with the 61st article of war.

3 Under the same article of war, Brevet rank will take place on courts martial, when composed of officers of different corps.

4 In regularly constituted commands, such as garrisons, posts, departments, regiments, corps, companies, brigades, divisions, corps d'armee, or the army itself, brevet rank is not to be exercised except on special assignment.

5 Officers having rank in the line of the army, the staff, or by brevet, though eligible to command, will not assume the command unless specially put on duty with that intention.

6 An officer entrusted with the command of a post, detachment, guard or separate command will not surrender it to another, unless regularly relieved from the duty assigned him, except in case of sickness or inability to perform his duty, when the officer next in rank, present, and on duty with such command, will succeed as a matter of course.

7 An officer, not on duty with, nor belonging to any of the companies, battalions, regiments or corps composing a command, cannot assume the command. He must first have been put on duty by some competent authority to make him a part of the command, before he can assume or exercise the command.

8 If different corps happen to join and do duty together, the officer highest in rank by his commission in the line of the army, present on duty, has the right to command the whole, and give orders needful to the service; brevet officers, or officers having brevets or commissions of a prior date to those of the regiment in which they serve cannot by virtue of such brevets or commissions of a prior date, assume the command.

By command of the President.
