Trip # 1-W

NEW-YORK, NOVEMBER 20:
Yesterday afternoon arrived here,
the Packet Le Courier de l'Europe,
Captain Cornick. It is with pleasure we inform our Readers, that she hath brought over the long expected
Definitive Treaty.

1783-11-20 New York Packet

Packet for France.
PUBLIC Notice is hereby given, That his Most Christian Majesty has thought fit, for the Convenience of Trade and Advancement of the mutual Interests of his Kingdom and the United States of America, to establish five Packets, to be dispatched in Rotation from Port L'Orient, in France, for this Port of New York, under the Agency of His Most Christian Majesty's Consul for this State. The first Packet, namely, the Courier de l'Europe, under the Command of Captain Cornick, arrived in this Harbour on the 19th Instant, and will be dispatched from hence as soon as Circumstances will admit; the precise Time, when fixed, will be made known: Letters to go with her Mail will be received at the Post-Office, in this City, established, or to be established by this State.
The Courier de l'Europe is a very excellent Ship, coppered, and has excellent Accommodations for Passengers:—The Rate of Passage-Money is established by Authority. Application to be made at No. 215, Water-Street, to WILLIAM SETON, Dep. Agent.

Courier de l'Europe

Packet for France.

THE King's Packet, Courier de l'Europe, Captain Cornic de Moulin, is to leave New-York between the 6th and 8th of December next, on her voyage to l'Orient. This Packet is very convenient for passengers, and has fourteen rooms for them.

Price for each passenger.

500 livres at the Captain's table, and for three trunks, each of 200 weight.

200 livres for a servant with one trunk.

Gentlemen.

200 livres for those who choose to live on ship's rations.

120 livres by the ton of two thousand weight, or 42 cubical feet.

The letters to be sent to the Post-Office in New-York.

The price of the passage is to be paid directly in the office of the Consul of France, or to the Captain.

The letters which came by this Packet are at the Post-Office at Philadelphia, but will for the future be delivered or sent from New-York, whenever the Post-Office shall be established there. A second Packet is expected every day, as she sailed the fifteenth of October.

The design of this Packet is to facilitate the communication between France and America, and the concerns of commerce between both countries. The Captain will follow the orders he shall receive from the Consul of his Majesty in America, or from the director of the Packet at l'Orient. At the departure of one Packet the next following is to begin its equipment, and the fifteen last days of every month are to be employed in getting provisions, &c. and receiving on board the goods which are to be embarked upon a particular order, signed by the Consul at New-York, or the director of the Packet at l'Orient.

Bills upon Paris at two or three months; may be received for payment thereof.

The passengers are to request an order from the Consul at New-York and director of the Packet at l'Orient, who shall at the same time assign the number of the cabin they are to inhabit, and receive from them 200 livres if they receive their rations with the seamen, and 500 if they keep at the Captain's table; in the first instance they will be allowed one trunk of 200 weight, or 4 and a half cubical feet, and in the other case three trunks of the said size.

The Packet is to leave l'Orient the 15 of every month; on the 14th the director of the Packet shall receive from the post-office all the letters for America. The mail of letters shall be sealed with the King's arms, and deposited in a particular place in the Packet made on purpose to receive it. On the evening of the same day, the Capt. shall make out an account of all the goods embarked, signed by himself, his second, and the director of the Packets. At the Packet's arrival at New-York, the Capt. shall immediately inform thereof the Consul of his Majesty, and deliver the mail into his own hand.

The departure of the Packet is fixed upon the first day of every month, and is to begin in December next; and the Consul of his Majesty is requested to use, for the loading and embarking, the same formalities which have been prescribed to the director of the Packet at l'Orient. Gold and silver will not be received by the Packet, but the Capt. is allowed to take them on freight on his own account, and he alone is to be responsible for the same.

Courier du Port Louis

Trip 3-W

NEW-YORK, Jan. 29.
 The French Packet, Courier du port Louis, Captain Tuevache, bound for this port from l'Orient, drove ashore on the 19th instant, in the last severe storm, on the back of Long-Island, Huntington Sound. Being extreme cold, several of the hands perished. Some on shipboard and others on shore, before they could reach a house. There were six passengers on board, and thirty-eight men belonging to the ship: Two of the passengers, and fourteen of the hands, perished; all the rest are more or less frost-bit; some of their lives are despaired of. Every possible exertion was made by the people of Long-Island, to save the unhappy sufferers; and the greatest humanity shown them; which redounds much to their praise.

The thoughtless sailors, when they found the vessel was stranded, fell a plundering the ship, and broke open the mail, in hopes of finding money in it, yet even some of the same unfortunate wretches perished with cold before they reached a house.

A few packages and trunks are saved out of the wreck. We can give but an imperfect account of this disastrous affair, as the particulars have not yet reached this city with precision.

NEW-YORK, FEBRUARY 4.

We have the pleasure to inform the public, that, after enduring the severest distresses, the Pacquet La Courier de New-York, has, from the indefatigable exertions of Captain Joubert, and his faithful seamen, been dislodged from the most eminent dangers, and, with a pilot on board, is now on the passage up to our East-River. This is the third Pacquet's arrival from Port L'Orient since we have been favoured with one from Falmouth.

1784 FEB 4 Independent Journal

As the British Pacquet is still in this Port, for the convenience of the Merchants here as well as at Philadelphia, it is thought necessary to postpone the sailing of the French Pacquet Le Courier de New-York until the 19th instant, when her Mail will be closed at the Post Office in this city.

New-York, December 28.

Yesterday arrived in this port, after a passage of 51 days from L'Orient, his Most Christian Majesty's Packet, the Courier de New-York, Monf. Jaubert, commander. This ship brings no interesting intelligence. She saw a ship on the 20th, being in lat. 38, 29, and long. 78, 44, from the meridian of Paris, which was supposed to be the Packet le Courier de L'Europe, that sailed from hence on the 18th inst. wind blowing fresh at N. N. W. and N. W. On the 23d the Packet was at the Hook, but was obliged to put out again on account of the gale that happened on that day.

1789

L'ORIENT, Feb. 4.

The post conveyance from this port to the continent of the American States is now broken up, and in consequence the vessels built for that purpose are put up to sale. Some American agents have purchased Le Courier d'Europe, Le Courier Americaine, Le Dilligente, and Le Postillon, fine vessels of 16 guns each, and so exceedingly well qualified for troops of war, that it is very extraordinary they should be disposed of. The Swedes are the purchasers of the other six, which are still larger.

1789 MAY 14 New York Packet

(Published by authority.)

THE public are advertised, that the French packet-boats, which had been suspended by order of government, are lately re-established—and that from the 15th of March, 1789, a packet-boat will sail from the port of Bourdeaux, the 15th March, 15th May, 15th July, 15th September, 15th November, and 15th January, in every year, which will take charge of the letters and packets intended to be sent to the United States of America.—These vessels will arrive alternately at New-York and at Norfolk, where they will deposit the mails they bring, and take those intended for France, which they will convey directly to Bourdeaux.

On their departure from France, there will be made out two lists, the one addressed to the Director of the French post at New-York, comprehending all the letters directed to the States of New-Hampshire, Massachusetts-Bay, Rhode-Island, Connecticut, New-York, New-Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Delaware; the other addressed to the Vice-Consul of France in Virginia, containing the letters for Maryland, Virginia, North and South Carolina, and Georgia.

The superintendence of the packet boats at Norfolk, being confined to Mr. Oster, Vice-Consul of his Most Christian Majesty, letters for France, England, Germany, Holland, &c. &c. will be received at his office, on payment of postage to Bourdeaux.

N. B. All letters sent by land, which are not franked, will remain in the Post-Office.

NEW-YORK, January 10.

On Saturday arrived, his most christian majesty's packet monsieur Deroutour (sub lieutenant of the navy of France) commander, from P'Orient, which place he left the 29th Sept. and on the 21st December in latitude 38. 40. and long. 65. 50. fell in with the ship Jupiter and John, of New-Brunswick, from Boston to Jamaica, out 4 days all well, capt. Duroutour begged the capt. of the ship to send him some provision and water, his own being both nearly expended, and his boat in two bad a condition to hoist out, but was answered by the capt. of the ship, that his boat was also in a bad condition, although it plainly appeared, that he had two good ones on deck.

On the 24th ult. in lat. 39, long. 66. fell in with the wreck of the schooner Jeudah, capt. George Bryant, of Kingston, near Boston, who left Surinam the 22d Nov. and on 22d Dec. in a heavy gale of wind, shipped a sea, which carried overboard the capt. and one hand, cleared the deck of every thing, stove in one of the gunwales, and nearly filled the vessel with water, and leaving in a most deplorable situation the mate, Mr. Daniel Pierce, and three sick hands, who mons. Deroutour took on board his packet, and brought into this port, finding the schooner in too bad a condition to be brought in, even with his assistance. Too much praise cannot be given to mons. Duroutour his officers and men, for their humanity and courage, in risking their lives in their boat in a heavy sea, and bringing those distressed fellow men on board, to share a scanty remainder of provision with them, having themselves been out of water near a month, and on a short allowance of bread, meat and cyder.

HUMANITY AT SEA*

TOSS'D on the bosom of the Atlantic main,
Where faithless to her charge the barque
has prov'd,
The sailor views the intruding wave with pain;
Thus far from land, who would not thus be mov'd!

In vain whole nights the constant pump is ply'd,
Where patient labor still renews the stroke;
O'er every hope prevails the insulting tide,
With dreams of death their scanty sleep is broke.

Their grave prepar'd, the affrighted sailors view
Waves pregnant with destruction round them rise,
No glimpse of land revives the drooping crew,
Unfathom'd seas expand, their bounds the skies.

What joy to those thus sinking in despair,
To spy some ship that bears the glad reprieve;
What anguish must the wretched bosom tear,
That finds that ship unwilling to relieve!

Far o'er the main, regardless of his prayer,
With fiend-like speed, unmov'd, she takes
her way,
Leaves him to perish who should claim her care,
No signal heeds, nor deigns one hour to stay.

Not so the FRENCHMAN—honor shall confess;
A shatter'd barque, by stormy oceans torn,
He met, and more than feeling for distress,
Seiz'd from the grasp of death the crew forlorn!

* The above Stanzas were occasioned by the generous conduct of Monsieur DUROUTOIS, Captain of the French Packet Le Franklin, now in this port, in humanely receiving on board his vessel, at the risque of the lives of several of his officers and men, the surviving part of the crew of the schooner Jeudah, with which he fell in at sea, on the 24th ult. in the greatest possible distress, the captain and one sailor having been carried overboard two days previous to the packet's falling in with her; being then a perfect wreck, and nearly full of water. Notwithstanding the packet was at this time as far to the eastward as long. 65. lat. 38 40. and extremely short of provisions and water, and a prospect of being a long time on the coast; Captain Duroutois's humanity prevailed over all these considerations, and the first view of the distressed situation of those unfortunate people, was with him a sufficient motive to use every exertion to save their lives (as it appeared impossible that the vessel could survive another gale,) and which he happily effected. As a testimony of their esteem for his benevolent character, and humane endeavors on this trying occasion, we are informed that Captain Duroutois has, since his arrival here been chosen an HONORARY MEMBER of the MARINE SOCIETY of New-York.

War declared between France and England

WAR between FRANCE & ENGLAND

By the British Packet Roebuck, arrived yesterday in 48 days from Falmouth, we have received the following important information, viz.

That the National Convention of France had declared WAR against ENGLAND and HOLLAND, about the 7th Feb. that EMBARGOES had been laid on all vessels, by France and England.—That reprisals had actually been made on both sides—reports say, a British frigate, and several merchant men, and a number of French vessels taken.—That the British fleet was still at Spithead, consisting of about 70 sail, frigates included, manned and fitted with greater expedition than was ever before heard of, without much pressing.—That the French fleet at Brest was not very powerful.—That reports were current of the Frenchmen in arms, being upwards of a million of men, but that 500,000 and odd men were under arms in France, was authentic.—That Holland and Spain were equipping with zeal for War.—That LOUIS was absolutely beheaded, on the 21st January as we before have heard.—And, that this Packet was detained one day to arm, which she did with four guns, and six extra men.

We hear that a gentleman in this city has received a letter from Oporto, dated February 28, which states, that WAR had been declared by the court of Portugal, on the 26th of said month; and by most of the other European powers about the same time; that an English vessel had arrived there from Bordeaux, having been obliged to cut away her cables, and make the most possible speed, fearing she might be seized by the French.
